

Teachers back to Class:

Alumnus Tyran Ferndale (kneeling in front) returned to his alma mater during the first couple of days of the Winter School break-to facilitate ICT training for the teachers of Mama Walton. Tyran reported that the training session was very successful, with even Mr Stephen Radcliffe (Blom) appreciative of being trained by an ex-pupil-even though he will be shortly (later this month) retiring. We wish Blom well!

Thank you Tyran, your efforts are much appreciated by the entire Alumni family. To the teachers, your willingness to sacrifice your first couple of days of a well deserved mid-year break, have not gone unnoticed-we salute your commitment, and thank you on behalf of the learners, who will be the ultimate beneficiaries of the training undergone by you.

Mamma Greetings!
